Body language: Myths vs. Facts

Stefan Verra, Austrian body language expert, book author and coach

The visual appearance is the first information we get from other human beings. It is the ambassador for their inner values. In this first moment we decide whether a person is competent, likable and trustworthy. As research shows (Harvard University, 2009), people who know how to incorporate the above factors, are more successful in life.

For leaders it is a key success driver to be aware of the scientific facts and key principles in human body language.

Stefan Verra

Stefan Verra is one of the top experts on body language. Like no other, he unveils the secrets of non-verbal communication. With a sound, expert knowledge of his subject, an impressive stage presence and enormous entertainment value, he deciphers the signals of body language in clear, understandable messages. In his own inimitable way, he brings over 50.000 people per year a greater awareness of how to use their former repertoire of walking, posture, gesture and facial expression in a more conscious way.

Stefan Verra is an expert on his subject. The way he imparts scientific knowledge on body language is compact and comprehensible. Quick-witted and in the wink of an eye, he can quickly change perspective to take on any situation. At the same time, he offers concrete tips for everyday life and work.

- TV Expert, keynote speaker, trainer, coach
- About 50.000 attendees per year in 15 countries
- Guest Lecturer at several universities
- Collaboration with the Clinic Rechts der Isar, Munich
- Frequent speaker at doctors conferences
- Bestselling author
- See more: www.stefanverra.com/en

Seminar
on Thursday, December 7, 2017, 16:00 (Restaurant Schwellenmätteli, Dalmaziquai 11, 3000 Bern)